The pivotal role of a teacher in the system of education is universally acknowledged. The teacher provides maximum interface between the system and child and therefore, is entrusted with a great deal of responsibility in achieving educational goals. Continuous upgradation of the teacher competencies is therefore a vital need.

Teacher competency is not only confined to the knowledge, skill or pedagogical practices but also involves teachers' attitude towards child, his level of motivation, interest, commitment towards teaching mission and also his ability.

I am glad to know that the School of Education is organising a week long capacity building programme for school teachers under the scheme of Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching, at S.R.T. Campus, Badshahi Thaul, Tehri.

I congratulate the co-ordinator of School, Prof. P.K. Joshi and his team for the initiative and wish every success for their endeavour.

Leadership is all about service. Academic leader in any educational setting is the pivot around which the success of institution revolves. He is expected to not only provide judicious direction but also to restore confidence among all stakeholders. Since students are central to institutional goals, equipping them with adequate knowledge and skills is the primary concern. But the purpose of education will fail if we do not inculcate adequate values and attitudes among them. Role of an academic leader therefore assumes further significance, as the society looks upon him as an icon, an ideal role model. For this to happen, high moral ground not only in theory but also in practice is the most important pre-requisite of academic leadership.

I am glad to know that the School of Education under Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya National Mission on Teachers and Teaching is organizing training program on academic leadership for secondary principals and senior teachers at SRT Campus, Tehri. I congratulate Prof. Joshi, Coordinator of the School and Prof. Sunita Godiyal and her team for the initiative and wish every success for the endeavor.

BRIEF REPORT ON BRAINSTORMING SESSION FOR STUDENTS DURING LOCKDOWN PERIOD DUE TO COVID-19 OR CORONA VIRUS

Organized by the Department of Education

S.R.T. Campus Badshai Thaul Tehri

We are facing a global health crisis unlike any other in the 75-year history of the United Nations- one that is spreading human suffering, infecting the global economy, and updating people's lives (UN Secretary-General, remarks on COVID-19: A call for Solidarity 19 March 2020).

U.N. Secretary-General pointed out that due to this COVID -19 Virus, entire nations on the earth are in lockdown, and from this lockdown period, our education system was affected adversely. Students are paying a heavy price for that. Right now, millions of children and youths worldwide are out of their respective schools, colleges, universities and other educational institutions. As we know, due to this pandemic period caused by Coronavirus, the whole world is in lockdown since March 2020. Our youth suffered more than others because they were not able to engage their energy in constructive work, study, and play. As per guidelines served by the Central Government, State Governments, U.G.C. and University guidelines every faculty member of the educational campuses, institutes and schools are engaged in online teaching and trying to provide the best education from their end but besides this students are not very happy with this and are suffering from mental stress and physical illness.

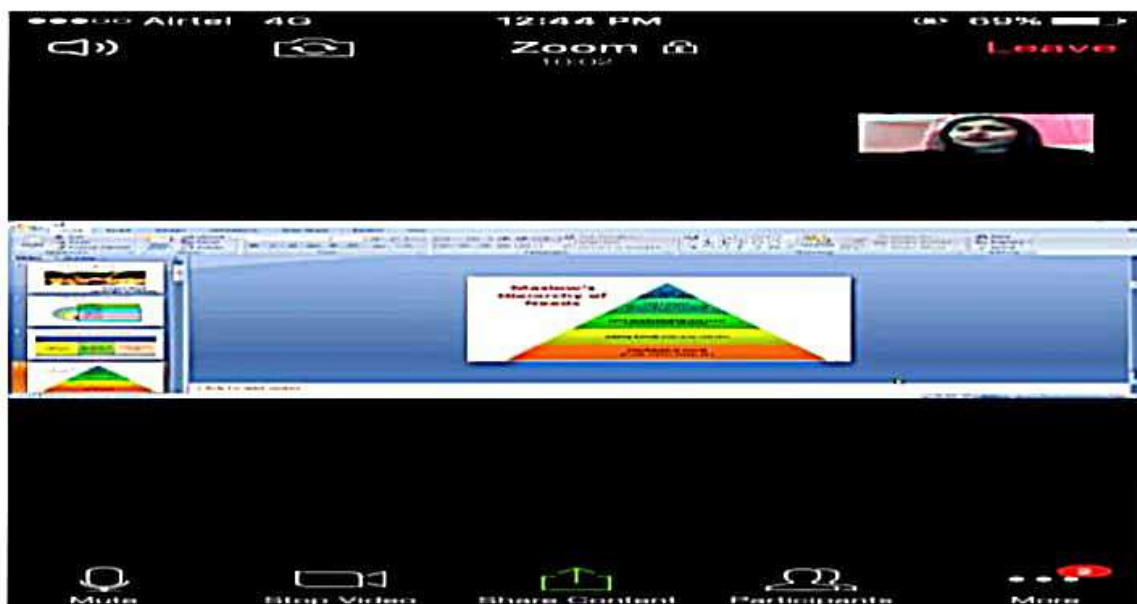

So, the Department of Education of S.R.T. Campus Badshai Thaul has decided to organize one or two-hour brainstorming sessions with various fields' experts. In this continuation from 26 April 2020, the sessions were organized with the following experts-

Session -1- Day Date: 26.4.2020 Time 3.30 pm Onwards

Dr. Neeru Atri, Psychologist Chandigarh –

Dr. Neeru Atri, a well-known Psychologist, gave her lecture on 'Stress Management during Covid-19' and explained how the young generation can handle their stress during this unexpected lockdown. She presented her lecture through PPT in an awe-inspiring way. She started her lecture on how the change in routine has created stress among people and discussed how youth can manage their stress by diverting their minds from stressful situations to the things they love doing and are interested in and how they can engage themselves in different productive and creative activities. Dr. Atri motivated participants to engage themselves in creative works like-reading motivational/spiritual books, watching motivational or spiritual videos, movies, playing with children, spending quality time with family members, and helping them in domestic work.

Dr. Atri encouraged the participants that they should utilize their time during the pandemic for the conservation of nature. Dr. Neeru Atri patiently answered all the queries of the student and faculty members.

Session -2-

Date: 1st .May.2020 Time 3.30 pm onwards

Prof. Rekha Nathani, Head of Department of Home Science, H.N.B. Garhwal (A Central) University, B.G.R. Campus, Pauri

Prof. Rekha Naithai discussed on “Dietary care during and after Covid-19”. She suggested that the students and faculty members maintain their health and their family’s health during and after the Covid-19 pandemic. She mentioned that no one should completely change their food habits;

they should stick to their set routine, daily meal plan during and after COVID-19. She emphasized that one should not take extra food and prefer food items like spinach, broccoli, beetroot, strawberry, avocado, walnut, lavang, which enhanced the immunity to fight with Coronavirus. She suggested that everybody should use whole-grain foods instead of refined and processed foods because many nutrients are dissolved during the refining process. She talked about the harmful effects of junk food and how it can lead to extra consumption of salts and sugars.

Prof. Naithani elaborated to the participants about the proper methods of cleaning and preserving fruits and vegetables after bringing them from market. She also threw some light on the importance of variety and food sources of Vitamins and minerals, which are necessary for increasing the immunity of all age groups of people. She encouraged students to maintain their health and immune system through physical activities and meditation by consuming proper and healthy food.

Session -3-

Dr. S.K. Chaturvedi, Assistant Professor, Department of Law, H.N.B. Garhwal (A Central) University, S.R.T. Campus Badshai Thaul Tehri, was the expert in our Brainstorming sessions. He gave his lecture on “Legal Awareness and Covid-19’ and guided students to follow all the Central Government’s rules and regulations from time to time. The Epidemic Act 1897 was enacted by the British Government to tackle the bubonic plague in Bombay (now Mumbai). He cleared that there is no Act to control the situation of any Pandemic disease. Dr. Chaturvedi states that in any unexpected and uncontrolled situation like Covid-19, the Government often uses Article-144 and Article- 188, which prohibits gathering of four and more people in any area or affected areas. He explained Article 188 and talked about disobedience to order duly promulgated by public servants.

He explained that the Government has the right to impose a Curfew to control the situation in any unexpected situation. It is mandatory for every citizen of the country to strictly follow all the rules and regulations; otherwise, government can take strict action against that citizen. Dr. Chaturvedi explained that in some circumstances like a pandemic, the Government could use the Disaster Management Act for its citizens. He urges students not to violate any rules, especially regarding Article 144, during and after the lockdown period.
